Hi Everyone

This week, quite a bit of info on the sudden cancer stories in the MSM and at the bottom, I answer a question from a few readers about the spider at the centre of the global web and where the real power lies...

Cancer- Cancer Everywhere

As I type, the MSM here is full of the big story of King Charles (yes, Jimmy Savile's big mate don't forget) having cancer.

Now, as the old saying goes, you can call me a "conspiracy theorist" if I can call you a "coincidence theorist". That's only fair right?

So, far be it from me to speculate but do you think it's got anything to do with the fact that the dangerous mRNA cancer jabs are starting to be trumpeted in the MSM? If anything, the timing's odd. You'd have to agree with that right?

Being a logical sort of lad, I'm not actually sure whether the new cancer mRNA jabs are supposed to give you it, rather than prevent it but maybe that's just me. If the dangerous mRNA tech in the toxic "covid jabs" are anything to go by, then I'm sure I'm on the right path and should be avoided at all costs.

I called in on a mate last week as the King's story broke and (as expected) Sly News were full of all these charts saying how likely you were to get cancer (you know the thing the King has got, seemingly very suddenly, from nowhere). And to ram it home to you, they even had different charts as to the likelihood whether you're a man, woman, young, old or whatever getting the big C.

I mean come on, even the King's got it so it must be rife?

Cue, Mantra of the Moronic: "I just wished there'd be a "safe & effective" jab for it. Yes, that'd be good wouldn't it..?"

Crisis Actors?

So, are they selling you a perception and fear with the help of this sudden story?

Many of you would say, well they wouldn't involve the King in anything like that. Perhaps you're right but cast your mind back to the massive lie of the covid con and both Prince Charles (as he was then) and clueless PM Bojo, were both used, very early on, to sell the lie if you remember?

All the early fake infections of the famous like Tom Hanks etc were not really connecting enough with the UK population I assume, so they needed our own celeb covid sufferers, to ram the point home here and get you to be scared, so Bojo and Charley were handed the acting gig.

Long-time readers will know, that when these two famous casualties were announced, I couldn't get to my keyboard fast enough.

My advice at the time, was to draw out all the cash you could lay your hands on and get down to the nearest bookies shop pronto and have a bet that neither of them would die. Sounds reasonable now but it was a radical comment then, as we were at the height of being stalked by the pretend "deadly virus" and people thought – and were massively encouraged to think – that Charlie and Bojo might die.

Needless to say – as I told you all then – they didn't and had they placed that sizeable bet, it would have been landed. I advised readers at the time that I didn't expect them to lose their money and of course they didn't, nor were they ever likely to.

When the big announcement of the two famous pretend covid sufferers came out on every news channel known to man in the UK, I remember it well that they even said – on the tickertape that goes along the bottom of the news screen – that Bojo had been moved to (and I quote) "near ventilators!"

What a load of shite that was and as I pointed out the blindingly obvious at the time. This seemed a completely obvious fraud at the time to me but strangely millions seemed to miss even this. You don't get moved to "near ventilators" for goodness sake. You're either on one or you're not!

This is the level of vaudeville theatre – because that's what it was – that was sucked-up mindlessly by the easily-duped at the time.

So, they wouldn't use famous people to sell an idea? Give me a break...

Does this then explain the odd timing of the announcement of mRNA cancer shots coming online and the King's very public diagnosis?

The Royals are usually very private about their health affairs and aren't usually in the habit of allowing their private concerns to be draped all over the TV headlines, so why now?

Yes I know, you're a "co-incidence theorist" aren't you?

Oh, and We Need More Cash

I also saw figures this week (by complete coincidence – or maybe not) that a major cancer charity said that the reason cancer rates are shooting-up is because you aint' giving them enough cash. They need to do more research apparently (you don't say?) and need your cash to do it, so get your running shoes on for some marathon or other, or arrange more coffee and cake mornings because they need more cash minions.

It's your fault that cancer is rife. A bit like the climate con then, it's all your fault...

A note to the wise: Big time Rockefeller insider, Dr Richard Day said, way back in 1969, that cancer is useful at keeping the population down and there's a cure for it but it's safely locked away in the then-named Rockefeller Institute. The masses have to die of something so it may as well be that.

Nice man...and it gives you a good indication of the level of psychopathy of these people.

But of course, with shite in the food, water, vaccines, what passes for "modern medicine" and importantly wifi radiation fields, cancer rates are indeed shooting-up but it's got nothing to do with a lack of coffee and cake mornings and more research required.

As I've featured more than once, we had eminent Oncologist, Angus Dalgleish, saying openly that "covid jabs" were causing cancer in his patients – with many suffering from a very aggressive form – so you don't think that might be why cancers are supposedly springing up here and there then?

Cancer incidences are indeed shooting up (even in the young see below) but the reasons given by the pathetic MSM are more misdirection.

Cancer in the Young

Following-on my “theory” that cv19 toxic shots are driving cancer cases, as well as the usual blood-clotting, heart attacks, immune system problems and sudden deaths etc, I see The Expose has analysed the figures, quietly released by the UK’s ONS, that people aged 18-49 that have had 4 covid shots, are 318% more likely to die than non-vaccinated people. In addition they describe cancer deaths among the young people as being at “explosive levels”.

Better nip along then and get the new mRNA cancer shot eh, just like the Tell-Lie-Vision will tell me to...

Where the Real Power Lies

Last week’s email about where the real power lies, created a lot of feedback, particularly about seeing with your soul and consciousness, not only your eyes, so it seems a few of you are alive and connected out there, which is excellent news!

Before I answer a question on it, I’ll respectfully remind you all that there is only one rule on my group and that’s you do not have to agree with me.

It’s only information, so make of it what you will...

I was asked to provide a bit more info about what I refer to as “the spider” and importantly where the real power lies, so here goes..

It's naturally a big subject to describe but in an effort to keep things waffle-free, here's just a few short lines to summarise.

This maybe only relevant really to advanced students and if you're new to this info, then don't worry – your time of enlightenment will come.

But be warned: If you still think for example that Joe “Where am I?” Biden is running the USA, then you're in for a shock my friends.

We live in an energetic reality, where everything is connected. There is no solid world really (the apparent “solid world” is assembled in our heads from biological electrical inputs) and things like time, distance and death are only human constructs within this reality. Think of this life as a type of fairground ride that you're on and we don space suits (called biological bodies) to allow us to experience this reality.

We are not humans on a spiritual journey, we are in fact spiritual beings on a (temporary) human journey. There is a big difference.

And the force that seeks to enslave you, knows all about this is the true nature of reality but seeks to keep this knowledge from you, for obvious reasons.

So in this context, I was asked who is the spider and where does the real power lie? This was my answer in summary:

“It's a hierarchical structure of compartmentalised secret societies, with bloodline being very important in terms of seniority but the force that controls this, is from outside of this reality. The Christian word for it is demons. The Muslims call them the Jinn (this is incidentally where the “genie in the bottle” fable comes from) and another ancient word to describe this force is the Archons. That’s ultimately where it’s coming from and you’ll notice I often refer to the “force that controls human society”. Well this is the reason...”

This force uses (by energetic possession for what of a better term) certain people and bloodlines to carry out its “work” here in this reality; so wars, hunger, needless death, conflict and all things you might term “evil” are simply expression of this force – carried out by its agents here – in this reality.

And, although many would laugh at me, this was the force behind so-called “covid vaccines” along with much, much else...

That’s all for this week

Cheers

Rob
